JEFFERSON'S LAST HOURS.—Of the death of Thomas Jefferson Harper's Magazine for August has the following:

His parting interview with his family on the 23 of July was calm and composed. He told his daughter that in an old pocket-book, in a certain drawer, she would find something intended for her. This proved to be these few lines of verse, composed by himself:

A DEATH-RED ADIEU.—TH. J. TO M. K.
Life's visions are vanished, its dreams are no more;

Dear friends of my bosom why bathed in tears?
I go to my fathers; I welcome the shore.
Which crowns all my hopes or which buries my cares.

Then farewell my dear, my loved daughter, adieu!
The last pang of my life is in parting from you.
Two seraphs await me long shrouded in death;
I will bear them your love on my last parting breath.

To his grandchildren he spoke many words of calm and serene wisdom, impressing upon them admonitions, the cardinal points of which were "to pursue virtue, be true and faithful." One of the children, a lad of eight years, seemed somewhat bewildered. "George," said the old patriarch, "does not understand what all this means." Then, when all had been said, Jefferson murmured, slowly but audibly, those words which have murmured through men's hearts for eighteen centuries: "Lord, now lettest Thou thy servant depart in peace."

A NEW PANORAMA.—The Baltimore Sun says: It has been known for some months among many in Baltimore that Colonel John R. Johnston, the artist, was getting up a panoramic art tour through Europe for exhibition. The work was unrolled to a private audience at the Holiday Street Theatre on Tuesday evening, among whom were art patrons, artists, clergymen and others of critical taste. This work of art was painted by Chas. S. Getz, Esq., from suggestions and sketches by Col. Johnston, who has travelled over the scenes portrayed. The panorama is full of artistic and mechanical effects, peculiar to Mr. Getz's style. The tour is through Ireland, England, France, Switzerland, Italy, Syria, Egypt, the Holy Land, &c. Colonel Johnston explained each scene in a quaint and humorous, though instructive manner. The series of pictures were of exceeding merit, and were received with unusual applause. Among many, the one representing an iceberg floating attracted special attention. Some very elegant effects were produced by changing lights of various colors. The last portion of the panorama gave an idealized view of the treasures of the deep, which proved to be an exhibition of chromatic and prismatic effects of the rarest beauty. The whole affair was a first-class success. It is learned that the panorama will be publicly displayed early in the coming Fall.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS.—A fair estimate of the total import trade of the United States for the last fiscal year, leaving out the specie, would be, say, five hundred and twenty millions in gold value. A similar estimate of the shipments of produce and merchandise alone, judging by the same standard, would be, say, five hundred and fifty millions in paper currency value; to this may be added about eighty-three millions in specie as above, from this port, and seventeen millions (probably a little less) from other ports—making a handsome offset for the gold cost of foreign imports, with the profits and freight money included. We know that there has been much uneasiness at the heavy increase in the outflow of coin; but in the year ending June 30, 1868, we sent from this port alone over seventy-six millions in gold almost as much as last year—and felt no serious inconvenience. If confidence and pluck, and something like the old energy, come back to our people with the fresh cool breath of autumn, we see no reason why the fall trade shall not prove to be a season of unexampled prosperity. —N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

PIKE'S PEAK is to be made a fashionable summer resort, to which the new narrow-gauge Denver and Rio Grande Railroad is expected to carry throngs of tourists in pursuit of health and pleasure. A company of gentlemen have concluded the purchase of a tract of land which includes the famous Colorado Springs at the base of the mountain, and will proceed to lay out two towns, one on the railroad, to be called Colorado Springs, where next spring a hotel will be built which is to cost $100,000, and the other, which is to be christened Villa La Font, at the springs proper, five miles from the railroad. There will also be erected a hotel, to be called the Tip-Top House, on the summit of Pike's Peak. The springs are four in number; the largest has formed a basin six or eight feet across, from the centre of which boils up a violent current. All of them are strongly impregnated with carbonic acid gas; their temperature is about sixty-five degrees, and they are credited with powerful healing virtues.

A SERIES.—Thomas Francis, of Albany, has been particularly unfortunate in the marriage relation. His first wife killed herself thirty-four years ago; nine years after, his second spouse ran away from him, and died of consumption in Illinois; six years later his third consort was drowned. In 1858 his fourth wife was killed, and he, having been convicted of murder, was sent to prison for life, but pardoned out. In another decade the fifth partner of his bosom mysteriously disappeared; and very recently the sixth wedded idol of his soul sought peace and oblivion by hanging herself to a bedpost.

MORTALITY AMONG CHILDREN.—The mortality among children in the city is again very distressing this year. The last returns of the Board of Health show that 344 persons died of diarrheal affections last week of whom 310 were children under two years old. Dirty streets, close rooms, bad milk and unripe fruit, are among the most active causes of this great mortality, but some share of it is undoubtedly due to the climate. Unluckily, at one or two of our sea-side resorts children do not stand a much better chance of retaining their health than in the city. —New York Times.

ORCHILLA.—The gathering of orchilla, a moss which yields a beautiful purple dye, is becoming a considerable business in Lower California. The moss is worth $25 per ton in London, and the supply is inexhaustible. That which is used in commerce is gathered from the trunks and branches of trees. A skillful picker can pick from 250 to 300 pounds a day.

DRUGS AND CHEMICALS.

The symptoms of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general constive, sometimes alternating with laxity. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and the liver is generally the organ most involved. Cure the liver with
